RE: Notification of Process Change: Laboratory Reference Ranges

DATE: October 1, 2018

Effective immediately, please be advised that the UC San Diego Clinical Laboratory will no longer provide a comprehensive, centralized listing of all laboratory tests and their associated reference ranges.

The laboratory has determined that maintaining a continuously updated, centralized reference document is operationally impractical. As a result, the previously distributed form containing this information is no longer being maintained or made available.

Reference ranges for individual tests are now accessible through the UC San Diego Health Online Test Menu: UC San Diego Health Online Test Menu | Home. This platform is regularly updated and reflects the most current reference data available.
